Hi Zeals Recruitment Team,

I'm Peter Roper, a Product Designer with over 20 years of experience crafting end-to-end design solutions. I applied for a similar role at Zeals a few years ago and really enjoyed my conversations with Vish — we connected well, and the dialogue felt both relaxed and ambitious. That sense of chemistry and shared drive to elevate the design team stayed with me, so I'm genuinely happy to see the role open again.

I'm currently a Senior Product Designer at Asurion Japan, where I've been for the past five years. Alongside shaping our design system and improving workflows across teams, I also lead design on day-to-day product work — from early concepts and user flows to prototypes and developer handoff. That balance between system thinking and hands-on design has been key, especially as I've worked closely with PMs, engineers, and QA to keep things grounded, flexible, and user-focused.

I'm interested in the Principal Design role because, over the years, I've naturally supported both my design manager and team members — improving collaboration, elevating quality, and guiding others through ambiguity. I'm now looking to do that in a more structured, intentional way, and based on my previous conversations with your team, I sensed that Zeals would offer that kind of environment.

Thanks for reading — It would be great to connect again.

Peter
